Reference: Big Game Tag Drawing / Bonus Points

Looking at the bonus point drawing for California Bighorn Sheep 2018 currently posted on NDOW website, it shows 26 bonus points as the Maximum number.

Calculating all of the applicant's points in all of the point groups from zero to twenty six, there were 814,744 draw numbers issued. As one person with 26 bonus points, you only have 8/100ths of ONE PERCENT of the numbers issued in that drawing. After the draw numbers are reduced to each applicant's lowest number, each and every applicant has one of 6,838 numbers in the drawing. Max applicants have 1.09% of the numbers issued to only Max applicants.

I would like to propose changing the big game draw to the following:

- 1.) Give 25% of the overall tags to the Max point holders
- 2.) Reduce the number of Choices to only 3
- 3.) Allow only up to 50% of the tags in any unit to be issued to max point holders

The first proposal would benefit the applicants who have supported the Dept the most and the longest! It works better when there are more tags available, as in the antelope, elk and desert sheep draws. If this 25% draw were in place that same year for the Desert Bighorn drawing, all of the 26, 25, 24 and part of the 23 - point holders would have gotten their tags!!

The second proposal would have removed 31% of the choices in the California Bighorn draw that year, which would spread the application pressure making the odds better for every applicant.

The third proposal would assure that there would be tags available in the very best areas for all of the lower point holders as well.

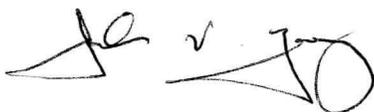

Several of our neighboring states have similar point systems to what I am suggesting.

- 1.) Wyoming - 75% to Max
- 2.) Utah - 50% to Max
- 3.) Arizona - 20% in Bonus pass then remaining max apps go back into 2nd pass
- 4.) California sheep & antelope
 - Area with 1 tag - random draw
 - Area with 2 tags - 1 random - 1 Max
 - Area with 3 tags - 1 random - 2 Max
 - Areas with 4 or more tags - 75% go to Max

These proposals would help applicants across all point groups.

Please take a serious look at these changes!

Regards,

John V Zenz
